IF The editor of the Providence Post expends a great deal of righteous indignation upon the Journal and News in consequence of the ground which these papers have taken in regard to the residence of Mr. Lawrence, We hope that the editor of the Post will keepenol; it appears to us that he would not be quite so indignant if he was not entiafied that the ground which we have taken was well-founded. He can talk about meanness as much as he pleases; the question of the residence of Mc. Lawrence is a political one entirely, and ar such we treat it. We have already avowed our personal friendship and respect for Mr. Lawrence; but, at the came time, as a political opponent of that gentleman, and as the editor of one of the Whig organs in the State, we shall boldly and fearlessly niget this question on fair political grounds. We do not think that Mr. Lawrence has acquired a legal residence in Rhade 1sland; and if we can satury the Board Canvanuers and the people, of this fact, we shall most certainly do so The generosity, the magninisty and the fairness of the Post, is most autoniching!

A despatch from New Castle, received last evening, gave us the melancholy intelligence of the death of John Fisher Clayton, the only surviving child of the Hon. John M. Clayton, of Deleware. He expired at "Buena Vieta," the residence of his father, about four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, after a very short illness. Those who knew him, and we were among the number, cannot hear of his decease without a deep and sincere sorrow that one who was endowed with so many virtues and qualities which adorned him as a man and endeared him as a friend, has met so untimely a doom. He has fallen upon the very threshold of manhood, surrounded with much that made life attractive; and looking forward to a future of honorable usefulness. The blow will be severely felt by those who were immediately related to him, and copecially by a parent who, but a little while since, suffered a similar bereavement in the death of an elder con. With him thus left childless in his declining days, we warmly sympathize, and trust that he may be enabled to sustain with all possible fortitude this sad and heavy uffliction.-Phil. North American.

In the last number of the Inquirer was announced the death of Fanny W. Robinson, damphier of Wilfiam C. and Alby B. Robinson, aged twentytwo. To notice the departure of so estimable a perion from the world at so sarly an age, seems at once an act of justice and a melancholy pleasure.
A large circle of relatives and friends have been andoned and oncocled by witnessing the slow decline of one whom they had known only to esteem and love. They have been adified, too, by seeing it low our holy fasth has power to somewrate the intering of life to God, and to bring to maturity the victure which prepare the soul alike for life or death. Early religious elucation, the Macred Scriptures, public worship, private devotion, the deather work, and her friends had the satisfaction to see a young spirit apparently ripened for heaven, at a period when the character is usually in the process of formation. To them it searcely seemed life death, so geneefully, no itsuitably, an hopsfully did the spirit take leave of earth and depart for the world unseen. To ber, death had no terrors, for she carried with her the testimony of humble, yet confiding plety, that she "ploved God in with all her heart."

Blue has departed from the world, bet her mentory, like afhenigant presence, still leagues about the ferville which she cheered in health, and hadory, like affecting the presence, still inspers about the firstile which she elsered in health, and hallowed by the graile mechoese of uncomplaining saffering and the sacred columns of a Christian death. Her about like has not been in vais, for she has takeful to the young that white no age is except from the destroper, an age is too sayly to find the seed prepared for the society of "the just make perfect."—Christian Impairer.

At the beginning of the year 1850, I made neveral yearly contracts with store-keepers and families to supply them with Burning Material for the year,—whereby they were induced to cast away the many, smoking oil lamps and to substitute keaps for Pine Oil and Burning Fluid; and in every case the most perfect satisfaction has been given. And what is most fluttering to roe, and still more creditable to the purchasers, they were the very first customers to pay up their bills on New Year's day, and to renew the contracts for the coming year. strength to extract all foreign substances from the cloth, by simply beling a small spruntity of it with the clothes, and without the slightest injury to the most delicate fabric.

The express is not more than that of the scap ordinarily used, and besides this it will be seen that the great wear and tear of clothing consequent upon the all method of hard rabbing upon a board, and the use of the pounding larged, is sholly avoided, and an insurance using in thus made. It is emphatically the fenale's triend.

TAPERIENCE is the Basis of all Real Knowledge.—To SEE and to FEEL is to KNOW, and this which is sen and known must not be contradicted. When Golileo annumered the discovery of new planes, the Aristotelians and, "This is impossible" Golileo replied, "Look through my telescope, and behold." The philosophers rejected. "We will not look lest we should soo thom." There are a few people now-a-days in rily that they will not look at facts lest some projudes should be distorbed. These persons are, lowever, not uninerous, and their supidity injures nobody but themselves. The character of Dr. S. P. Townsend's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla rests upon universal experience alone. Without this solid foundation, it never could have attained the wide-spread popularity which it at present eajoya.
